The Chesapeake Section of the American Association of Physics Teachers (CSAAPT, covering DC, DE, MD, & VA) will hold its Fall 2022 Meeting semi-virtually on Saturday, October 22, 2022.

This meeting is co-hosted and co-sponsored by the Virginia Tech Department of Physics and the University of Virginia Department of Physics. Additional financial support is provided by the Virginia Tech College of Science.

The physical in-person meeting will take place at the Virginia Tech Northern Virginia Center in Falls Church, VA, which will be broadcast on Zoom so that people from afar (both presenters and attendees) can join in virtually.

★ No AAPT/CSAAPT Membership Required!

We welcome participation of all physics/science teachers and students in the region, as well as anyone interested in physics education, or physics in general.

★ Featured talks!

Prof. Edward F. “Joe” Redish (UMD) “Using math in physics: What’s the problem?”

Prof. Patrick Johnson (Georgetown U) “The Physics of Star Wars”

★ Share your ideas and experiences with other Physics Education Enthusiasts!

We solicit 15-minute contributed talks/demos on any topic pertaining to physics teaching.

★ Receive CEU credit for attendance and presentations!

★ Free Books!

Books donated by our publisher sponsors will be given away to in-person attendees with preference given to high school teachers and CSAAPT members.

★ Lodging Support!

We have limited funds to support the travel of high school teachers currently teaching physics.

★ Deadlines:

- Application for lodging support: Friday, September 23, 2022
- Hotel room-block cutoff date (Hilton Garden Inn Falls Church): Wednesday, September 28, 2022
- Submission of abstracts for talks and demos: Friday, October 7, 2022
- Registration for in-person attendance: Friday, October 14, 2022
- Registration for virtual attendance: Friday, October 21, 2022
